Use this free homeschool planner when you are deciding on your intended curriculum for the next year.

Write down all the possible choices you have for each child for each subject. You may have multiple children using the same material for the same subject.

After you have written down all your choices then you can narrow down your choices from there. When you decide what you want to use for that child in a certain subject, then circle it. This paper can be taken to a curriculum fair or just used to purchase your curriculum online or by phone.

You can save this sheet to use the next year. The items that you didn't choose one year can be considered the next year.
